Sea Poems (Cale Young Rice Collection) Cale Young Rice

Dodo Collections brings you another classic from Cale Young Rice, 'Sea Poems.

Cale Young Rice writes in the foreword of the book:

“The poems of this volume, gathered here after many requests, are, with a few exceptions, from my previous lyrical publications. They are also in a real sense an intimate record. For the sea has often enough seemed to me almost as a vast external sub consciousness in which the forces of my being—as well as the world’s—were at play.”

Cale Young Rice (December 7, 1872 – January 24, 1943) was an American poet and dramatist.

He was born in Dixon, Kentucky, to Laban Marchbanks Rice, a Confederate veteran and tobacco merchant, and his wife Martha Lacy. He was a younger brother of Laban Lacy Rice, a noted educator. Cale Rice grew up in Evansville, Indiana, and Louisville, Kentucky. He was educated at Cumberland University and at Harvard (A.B., 1895; A.M., 1896).

He was married to the popular author Alice Hegan Rice; they worked together on several books. The marriage was childless, and Cale committed suicide by gunshot during the night of January 23–24 at his home in Louisville a year after her death due to his sorrow at losing her.

Cale Rice’s poems were collected and published in a single volume by his brother, Laban Lacy Rice. His birthplace in Dixon is designated by Kentucky State Historical Marker 1508, which reads:

“Birthplace of Rice brothers, Cale Young, 1872-1943, noted poet and author; Laban Lacy, 1870-1973, well-known educator and author. Lacy published The Best Poetic Works of Cale Young Rice after Cale’s death. Included in famous collection is poem, “The Mystic.” Cale married Alice Hegan, also a distinguished Kentucky writer. Home overlooks Memorial Garden.”
